GOVERNMENT TAX SALES

Several hundred sub-divisions all over the province will be cancelled as the outcome of a series of provincial government tax sales now being advertised for various dates this fall. These sales, which will be conducted at a number of points, will affect considerable areas of farming land and will also take a large amount of sub-divided property now lying idle and producing neither taxes nor crops.

The purpose of these tax sales in respect to the sub-divided property is to secure the cancellation of sub-divisions not properly in that class, and put them back into farming land. This is, no doubt, a step in the right direction. A minimum price has been set by the government on all such property now liable for tax sale, in cases where it lies outside the corporate bounds of municipalities but within the bounds of improvement districts.

The government will bid in the property at this price, taking over the tax certificates and the proceeds will be absorbed, provided among the several taxing authorities represented in the tax arrears. When this action has been taken the sub-divisions will be cancelled and the property will be put on a farm basis, for which purpose it is adapted.

This is the first time such a plan has been applied in Alberta, and the result will be awaited with no little expectancy. The procedure is authorized under the terms of the Tax Recovery Act, and will be followed out in connection with all the sales now scheduled for dates this fall. The fact that there is so much sub-divided property on the outskirts of small towns throughout the province but within only improvement districts is a memento of boom days when land was divided into lots far out into the open country, the result of wild-cat speculation.

THE LATEST OUTRAGE

Government Officials in Car Obligate To Duck To Avoid Bullets

About the most dastardly outrage yet perpetrated in connection with police duties in this district occurred last night, about 8 o'clock, when a large McLaughlin car, belonging to a Blairmore man and carrying Dominion and Provincial government officials, was stopped at the point of a gun by a provincial police officer on the main trail near the Sanatorium barracks.

The facts as related to us are that the gentlemen in question availed themselves of a ride, and while at a moderate pace passing in front of the Sanatorium a police officer, flashing a light, shouted from the roadside. Presuming it a call to stop, the driver immediately put on his brakes, but before the car came to a standstill several gunshots were heard from the rear. The occupants of the car ducked to avoid shots and feared a hold-up. The driver looked out and as the officer approached, flashing his light but concealing the gun, he asked what was wanted. The officer replied, "Oh, nothing" and walked away. Sgt. Nicholson was approached, but gave no reason for the action of his apparently irresponsible subordinate.

We understand that the matter is being reported to Edmonton in detail and the department of attorney-general will be required to make full investigation.

Following so closely after similar outrages, such as the holding up of a hotel clerk, the holding up of a hotel proprietor, etc., all the work of incapable or irresponsible employees of the provincial government, it certainly appears as though the common citizen is obliged to carry arms to protect himself from the supposed police guardians of the peace.

PLANS LARGE ELECTRICAL IRRIGATION DEVELOPMENT

COWLEY—The Douthett society are putting a battery of huge centrifugal pumps in the Old Man River, just above Lundbreck Falls for the purpose of pumping water for the irrigation project adjacent to the town of Cowley. They will raise the water one hundred feet to a hill south of the river, and from there they will run a flume a distance of approximately three miles to the east side of the hill between the towns of Cowley and Lundbreck. The flat has a gentle slope eastwards and will be very easily irrigated from that point.

The power for this immense undertaking will be developed from the Lundbreck Falls, which are capable of developing 50,000 horse power. The irrigation is not the only feature. Electrical power will also be developed throughout the surrounding country.

There are several other farms within the arm of this project who will receive the benefit of the undertaking. Water will be sold to the owners at the usual rates for water. Cowley Flat will be a regular "Garden of Eden" within a few years. The land is very productive and with irrigation it will be one of the beauty spots of Southern Alberta.

Arrangements are being made with the C. P. R. for the use of their steam crane to unload the immense pumps, which weigh many tons.

The society are to be congratulated on the wonderful undertaking. It means an immediate increase in land values within the scope of the project.

A public meeting will be held in the interest of the Labor Party at the opera house on Saturday, at 8 p.m., to be addressed by the Labor candidate for the Macleod riding, and others. Supporters of the Meighen government are cordially invited to attend.

Does It Pay The Farmer To Hold His Wheat

The question which constitutes the heading of this article has been asked and debated thousands of times and it still remains a moot question in the minds of many people. Commissions have investigated the grain marketing problem in practically all the great wheat growing countries of the world, and in this connection cooperation has been given to the effect on prices of the early marketing of the bulk of the wheat crop immediately following harvest. The prevailing opinion in the minds of most people has undoubtedly been that those farmers who, from force of circumstances, were compelled to rush their wheat to market were the losers thereby, while the man who could afford to hold it and watch the market stood to gain.

Practical and experienced farmers have become not only critical but rather resentful of writers in newspapers who essay the task of advising them what to do and what not to do. Arm chair farmers, like arm chair military strategists, are not popular, nor do they carry much weight, and possibly rightly so when they attempt to deal with practical farming problems. But in the matter of the marketing of wheat, men who never plowed a furrow or sowed an acre in their lives, but who have studied the question of marketing the fluctuations of prices, and the harvest seasons around the world, are well qualified to speak in reply to the question at the head of this article. They are certainly in just as good a position to express an opinion in regard to it as any practical farmer, and possibly in a much better position to do so intelligently.

Of course, no hard and fast rule can be laid down because conditions vary from one year to another and circumstances arise beyond the control of men, mortals which upset any and all calculations and defy previous experience. For example, the man who sold wheat immediately following the outbreak of war in 1914 was the loser by so doing. It is, therefore, only possible to arrive at an intelligent answer to the question whether it pays the farmer to hold his wheat after harvest by taking the average run of prices over a period of normal years.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis has recently issued a set of most interesting charts, one of which seeks to throw some light on the question. One pair of charts shows the variations in prices on the Chicago and Minneapolis markets covering the 45-year period from 1876 to 1920; another shows the monthly range of cash wheat prices in Minneapolis during the last ten years, while a fourth chart, dealing with the normal pre-war years of 1903 to 1913, shows whether a farmer stood to gain or lose by holding or selling his wheat as indicated by the Chicago prices which prevailed from month to month throughout this ten-year period.

Taking the August price in each year as a basis, the chart in question shows the fluctuations in price above or below the August price in the succeeding months until August again came round. The chart reveals the amazing fact that in only 25 months out of the 120 in this ten-year period would it have paid the farmer to hold his wheat as compared with selling at the August price. In other words, in 95 months out of the 120 there was a loss by selling what at other than the August price. On the average every month showed a loss, and these losses vary from about five cents to fourteen cents a bushel. It is further pointed out that if September prices, instead of August, had been selected as the basis for making the comparison the conclusion would not have been so bad.

This highly interesting chart, based as it is on authoritative figures from official records, shows that by selling in September instead of August throughout these ten years the farmer would have sustained an average loss of 6-1 cents per bushel; selling in October instead of August his average loss would have been 7-2 cents per bushel; selling in November the loss would have been 12-3 cents; in December 13-4 cents; in January 13-8; in February 12-3 cents; in March 13-4 cents; in April 14-1 cents; in May 12-7 cents; in June 10-7 cents; and in July 9-1 cents.

In arriving at these figures allowance has, of course, been made for the cost of storage, shrinkage in weight, and interest charges, but a farmer holding his wheat must pay all these, and he cannot, therefore, merely compare actual market prices at the time of harvest with the price quoted three or six months later.

Selling promptly in the fall of every year appears, therefore, to yield the farmer the best average price, judging by the experience of these ten normal pre-war years. In some years, of course, he would gain by holding his wheat, but these are the exceptional years and not the rule. In fact, his chances of loss through holding instead of prompt selling in the fall appear to be about four to one.

Why does a corporation sometimes wait until there is nothing to receive before asking for a receiver?

British Premier's Final Offer For Conference May Be Accepted

Dublin.—The general feeling here is that Mr. Lloyd George's invitation for a conference on October 11 will be accepted. The whole temper of the Irish leaders appears to have changed for the better and optimism once more prevails here.

The Freeman's Journal cordially welcomes Premier Lloyd George's reply, which, it says, creates a reasonable opportunity for the Irish and British representatives to meet. It declares that the Premier's final paragraph leaves the delegates unafraid and the paper sincerely hopes that the invitation will lead to a conference.

"We are confident," it adds, "and the people of both nations manifest the same confidence, that such a conference will result in a great and beneficial measure of peace."

Glasgow, Scotland.—The text of Lloyd George's reply to the last note from Emmanuel de Valera, which was despatched to Dublin follows:

"Sir, His Majesty's Government have given close and earnest consideration to correspondence which has passed between us since their invitation to you to send delegates to a conference at Inverness.

"In spite of their sincere desire for peace, and in spite of the conciliatory tone of your latest communications they cannot enter into a conference upon the basis of this correspondence.

"Notwithstanding your personal assurance to the contrary, which they much appreciate, it is argued in the future that the acceptance of a conference on this basis had involved them in a recognition which no British Government can accord. On this point they must guard themselves against any possible doubt. There is no purpose to be served by any further interchange of explanatory and argumentative communications upon the subject. The position taken up by His Majesty's Government is fundamental to the existence of the British Empire and they cannot alter it.

"My colleagues and I remain, however, keenly anxious to make, in co-operation with your delegates and other distinguished statesmen, every possible effort to bring about a settlement by personal discussion."

"The proposals which we have already made have been taken by the whole world as proof that our endeavors for reconciliation and settlement are no empty form, and we feel that conference, not correspondence is the most practical and hopeful way to an understanding such as we ardently desire to achieve.

"We, therefore, send you herewith a fresh invitation to send delegates to London, on October 11, where we can meet your delegates as the spokesmen of the people whom you represent with a view to ascertaining how the association of Ireland with the community of nations known as the British Empire can best be reconciled with Irish national aspirations.

"I am, sir, your faithfully,
"D. LLOYD GEORGE."

Consider Securing Help For Russia

Relief Committee Will Not Appeal to League of Nations.

Geneva.—Recommendation that the assembly of the League of Nations appeal to its members for credits to Russia will not be made by the Russian Relief Committee, it was announced here.

The matter of securing funds for Russia and the organization of relief measures were left entirely to the conference to be held in Brussels soon and to welfare organizations. The reason given for this decision by the committee was that various governments have found it impossible to open new credits at this time.

India Dissatisfied With Present Rule

Desires Measure of Autonomy Granted to Self-Government Dominions.

Toronto.—That the retention of India as an integral part of the British Empire can be secured only by ultimately granting to her that measure of autonomy already enjoyed by the self-government dominions, is the opinion of Dr. S. E. Datta, a respected leader of the moderate party in India, who addressed the Canadian Club here.

The address was a notable one in that it came from a native Indian, though thoroughly in sympathy with the idealistic side of the Nationalist movement in India, has thrown the weight of his influence on the side of constitutional reform under the British Government.

Dr. Datta strenuously combated the idea that the race now going on in India between constitutional reform on one side and revolution on the other was one that affected the other sections of the Empire merely as spectators. On the contrary, what he called the "other section of the Empire" said and thought, was of vital consequence.

Japan Selects Delegates

Surprise Caused By Appointment of Prince Tokugawa.

Tokyo.—The Japanese delegates to the Washington Conference on limitation of armaments, will be Prince Iyeyasu Tokugawa, president of the House of Peers; Vice-Admiral Tomonaga Kato, Minister of the Navy, and Baron Kijuro Shidehara, ambassador to the United States. It has been officially announced.

The delegation includes 18 others representing the foreign office, three representing the ministry of finance, twelve the ministry of the navy, and seven the army.

The appointment of Vice-Admiral Kato and that of Ambassador Shidehara had been expected, but the Asahi Shimbun in commenting upon the makeup of the delegation, emphasizes the fact that the appointment of Prince Tokugawa was a great surprise to the nation. It expresses the view that for one thing it embodies a move by Premier Hara to prepare the way for a Tokugawa ministry after the Washington Conference, when the present cabinet, it says, is likely to resign.

Australia Has Surplus For Year

Treasurer's Report Shows Economic Strife Is Easing.

London.—A Reuters cable from Melbourne says the treasurer of the Australian Commonwealth, Sir J. Cook, when introducing the budget in the House of Representatives, showed a surplus for the past year of $294,000. The revenue for the year was $285,715,000, which exceeded the estimates by $2,153,000.

The expenditures were $284,224,000, or $2,494,000 less than the estimates. An accumulated surplus of $5,618,000 was reported.

The estimated revenue for the forthcoming year is $317,787,000, and the expenditure $284,601,000, including $3,000,000 for shipbuilding, $211,000,000 for soldiers' homes and land settlement; $25,650,000 war pensions, and $200,000 aviation development. The gross public debt is reported as $401,720,000, of which $359,607,000 is due the Imperial Government.

The Empire's Effort—And Sacrifice

One Man in Every Ten Laid Down Life In Great War.

From a return lately printed for the House of Commons, and published in an official Parliamentary report of May 2, we are now fully able to realize the magnitude of the effort made by the British Empire during the European war and how heavy was the sacrifice demanded of those who helped by land and sea in gaining the victory at the end of the long struggle.

The total numbers of our sea and land forces that served during the war amounted to the huge total of something over nine millions of men; of these nine millions—nine millions, be it remembered, of the very pick of the Empire—no fewer than one man out of every ten laid down his life, having been killed in action, died of wounds, or died from disease due in some measure to the war.

One man in every four was wounded, and one man out of every three became a casualty in one way or another—whether by death in action, from wounds or from disease, or by being wounded or taken prisoner. This is surely a very terrible proportion, and shows how and to what a dreadful extent the modern wars of nations have increased the casualties among those taking part in them, while the sacrifice also falls most heavily upon the very pick of the manhood of the opposing peoples.

Lower Grain Rates From Montreal.

Montreal.—At a meeting of the various shipping lines of Montreal it was decided to make a reduction of ten per cent. in the existing freight rates for grain being shipped from this port to points in the United Kingdom. This reduction comes, it is said, as the result of the scarcity of package freight.

Refugees In Petrograd.

Riga.—Approximately 150,000 refugees from the famine districts of Russia now are in Petrograd, says a wireless message received here. Work has been found for only 5,000 of these refugees, the wireless adds.

Forbidden to Drive Car.

Moore Jarr, Sask.—Andrew Casey, who was found guilty of driving a motor car in a manner dangerous to the public, was forbidden to operate a car for six months and fined $25 in the police court here.

Thos. Edison Says Good Times Coming

New York.—"Good times are coming," says Thomas A. Edison. "The tide already has begun to turn. Times are getting better now, slowly of course but surely. These periods of depression are caused by a faulty adjustment of our economic machine or by it being thrown out of gear by some unusual force such as war. The machine is all right; it will work properly as soon as the obstruction is removed."

Says Germany Must Go To Reparations Limit

Munich.—"We must go to the limit of our capacity with regard to reparations," Dr. Walter Rathenau, the German minister of reconstruction, declared before the congress of the Imperial Association of German Trades: "Complete fulfillment of the terms of the ultimatum will affect the world economically more severely than ourselves. Britain has three million and the United States six million unemployed. The more Germany must work the more the others cease working. What is needed is an international economic understanding."

The minister approved Winston Churchill's suggestion of co-operation as outlined in his Dundee speech and said with regard to France:

"We must give goods; the problem is to substitute products for gold. We are to have a further conference with France regarding arrangements for deliveries of gold marks to the amount of seven billion in the course of four and a half years."

Hungary Willing To Obey Instructions

Burgeland Question Is Now Ready Settlement.

Paris.—Hungary has sent a note to the Council of Ambassadors here declaring it is ready and willing to carry out the instructions of the council with regard to Burgeland, the strip of territory along the frontier between Austria and Hungary awarded to the former country by the Trianon Treaty, and has asked the approval of the council for direct negotiations with Austria for a settlement of the question.

The Ambassadors' Council has drafted a reply saying there is no objection to direct negotiations or mediation by a third party if the order of the council for evacuation of Burgeland by Hungary is first observed.

Canada's Sea Fish Catch Decreases

Ottawa.—The total quantity of sea fish landed on both the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts during August this year was 776,677 cwt., valued at $2,043,461. During the corresponding period in the preceding year 1,005,894 cwt. were landed with a value of $3,647,137.

In British Columbia there were 415,912 cwt. of halibut taken during the month. In the same period last year 28,689 cwt. were taken. The salmon taken in British Columbia during August amounted to 224,776 cwt., about half the quantity landed during the same period last year.

Urges Aiding Austria

Hon. A. J. Balfour Appeals to All Countries For Help.

Geneva.—Speaking in the assembly of the League of Nations on a resolution expressing the regret of the assembly that the reconstruction of Austria's finances had been delayed for a reason it was hoped would shortly be removed, Right Hon. A. J. Balfour said the Allies had done all they could for the restoration of Austria. All of them had released their allies to that end, he recalled, and he hoped that the Austrian people would not lose their courage. He appealed to all the countries, in the general interests of Europe and for the credit of civilization to do all they could to enable Austria to regain her feet.

World Record For Altitude

Airman Attained Official Height of 40,800 Feet.

Dayton, Ohio.—Lieut. John A. MacReady, test pilot at McCook Field, shattered the world's altitude record, attaining an official height of 40,800 feet in the same lapar biplane used by Major Rudolph C. Schroeder, who set a record of 38,180 feet on February 28, 1920.

Lieut. MacReady was in the air one hour and forty-seven minutes, requiring all but a few minutes of the total flying time to reach his mark. At 29,000 feet, ice formed on his oxygen tank but he pressed on until the anti-meter registered 41,000 feet. At this point his engine coughed and died. He then glided safely to the ground.

Sixty-Three Days In Open Rowboat

American Ex-Soldier and Daughter Found By Police Launch.

Washington.—Sighted by Chesapeake Bay fishermen five miles off Norfolk, Va., in an open rowboat, in which they had been cruising the waters of the bay, and the Potomac River for sixty-three days, William A. Spencer, ex-soldier, and his ten-year-old daughter, Cora Eleanor, were later located by a police launch and brought to that port after a nation-wide search for weeks, following their mysterious disappearance from this city. Finding of the father and daughter was made known at police headquarters here after notification from the Norfolk authorities.

Typhoon In Japan Kills Hundreds.

Tokyo.—Several hundred persons have been killed by a typhoon in Central Japan, centring upon Nagoya, on the island of Honshu, where a tidal wave destroyed cars and houses. Several steamships were sunk and many fishermen are missing.

Plan World Convention.

Victoria, B.C.—A world convention of fire chiefs will be held in San Francisco next year on the fifth anniversary of the organization of the International Association of fire engineers, if plans of the Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs, which met here, are carried out.

Winnipeg.—A reduction amounting to 20 per cent. on all rates over 50 cents per hundred pounds on livestock shipments from the prairie provinces to St. Paul and Chicago, has been announced here by the Canadian Pacific Railway. There is no reduction being made below 50 cents per hundred pounds. This new rate will become effective Oct. 8. The statement issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway says: In view of the fact that cattle are moving from the prairie provinces to St. Paul and Chicago, notwithstanding the Fordney tariff, it is reducing the rates on livestock in line with the reductions made by U.S. railways.

The following are quoted as samples of the new rates:
Moose Jaw to St. Paul 55 cents as against the present rate of 69 cents; to Chicago 77 cents against 96; Calgary and Edmonton to St. Paul, 70 1/2 against 88; to Chicago 92 as against $1.15.

Halifax To Improve Shipping Facilities

Board of Trade Looking For Large Cattle Shipments.

Halifax.—The Halifax Board of Trade have announced that they have taken steps toward the improvement of cattle shipping facilities at this port in anticipation of large animal shipments from Halifax to the Old Country during the coming winter.

The Board may ask the Government to have the large sheds at the new ocean terminals made ready for temporary use as cattle sheds, according to one suggestion. The first small shipment of cattle through Halifax has already been made.

Socialists Want True Republic

Aim At Thorough Elimination of Monarchy.

Berlin.—The Independent Socialist party introduced in the Reichstag a bill aiming at the thorough elimination of all vestiges of monarchist Germany. The main essence of the measure provides that all the property of former Emperor William and the former German Princes, both family and private, shall be confiscated by the State, and all military and civil officials holding monarchist views or tolerating monarchist manifestations, or who refuse allegiance to the republic, shall be dismissed without pension, and military men shall not be permitted to carry arms except while on active service. The bill also proposes the introduction of trial by jury.

Reduce Price Of Farm Implements

Chicago Firm Makes Cut From 10 to 20 Per Cent.

Chicago.—The International Harvester Company announced reductions ranging from 10 to 20 per cent. in practically all lines of farm implements. The cut is effective Oct. 1. This is the company's second general reduction this year. In March and April, prices of agricultural machines were cut 10 to 15 per cent. and in July reductions were made on all types of tractors.

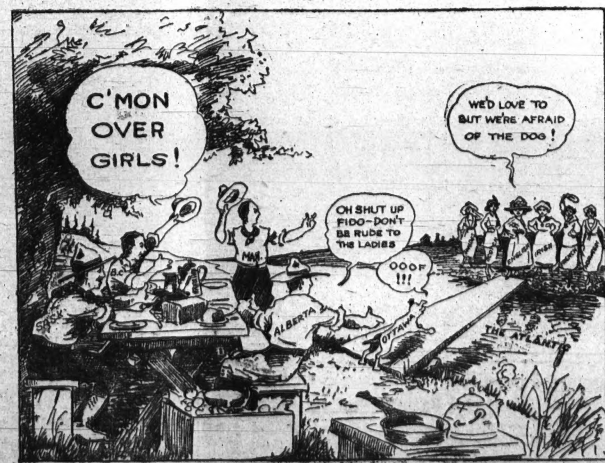

"These prices were made after a careful study of the market and labor conditions," the Harvester Company's announcement says, "and represent our judgment of the lowest possible raw material and production cost that can, under the most favorable conditions, be forecast for the manufacturing season of 1922."

French Policy Announced.

Paris.—Premier Briand will outline the position of the French Government relative to the conference on limitation of armaments in a speech at St. Nazaire on Oct. 9. On that occasion he purports to make a declaration of ministerial policy concerning all questions of prime importance now before the country which will be laid before Parliament when it re-assembles on Oct. 13.

Appeals to League.

Geneva.—Dr. Fridtjof J. Nansen, of Norway, appeals to the members of the committee of the League of Nations to insist that the league appeal to the various countries to help feed Russia, succeeded in getting that body to hold the question over for further consideration in the face of the sub-committee's adverse report.

Electrical Safety

Materials, switches, fuses, fastenings, bushings, conduits and joints in connection with electrical fire hazards will be the subject of a special fire prevention campaign to be inaugurated by the Wisconsin Industrial Commission. The fire State will be covered. The program has been devised by electrical installers in Wisconsin last year was $194,135. Efforts will be made to check fires and to provide for the licensing of electricians and inspection and approval of all work. The State laws do not require this.

We noticed last week where provincial police raided four soft drinks joints in an Alberta town in search of intoxicants. Three of the four premises were occupied by English-speaking parties, the fourth by a Chinese man. Beer taken from each of the four premises registered the same percentage. It is calculated and the circumstances in all cases were identical. Still all four appeared before a magistrate and were convicted under the Liquor Act, but the Chinese man was assessed fifty dollars more than either of the other three. We fail to see why a Chinaman who has become domiciled and naturalized as a Canadian citizen and thus subject to our protection, should be treated more harshly than any other creature, and must look upon the judge handing down such a ruling as an undesirable effort to hold any responsible person. Such a case borders upon the atrocious and is not at all uncommon in Alberta today, particularly under the Alberta Liquor Act enforcement.

Many wrong judgments have been brought against the liquor traffic as everyone knows. But severely anything further charged is more serious than the evidence furnished by the daily press that portion favoring the traffic equally with that against it in respect to the wholesale and therefore efforts to nullify a regularly enacted national law. There has always been more or less effort to evade laws of all kinds, but in this respect at least, the traffic equally with that against it, has been seen to bring a law into contempt; even some of the leading newspapers of the country joining the hue and cry. One and all seem to have forgotten the well-founded axiom that the best way to defeat a bad law is to work it thoroughly. There must be some thing inherently rotten in a traffic that defies such widespread criminal disregard of law. The effort in establishing a law is a frightful grief, and the feeling of the people on its future is appalling. Chicago Daily's Helper.

THE WORDS OF THOMAS

Summoned Gaels, Unto the Brethren,
The Followers of the World Wide
Ord of Economists:

The First Epistle unto the Brethren
Chapter I.

1. Brethren and Sisters Greetings and Salutations.
2. So it came to pass that it seemed to me good to lay aside for a time the garment of Daily Business and to don the garb of Bargain givers.
3. And straightway I brought me the aid and Counsel of Him who answereth the name of The Chicago Sales Company.
4. Who hastened unto me the latter days of the month of June and behold now, my store will and doth gleam in a blaze of glittering bargains that will entice thee to buy that Thou mightest Save the Coin and that thy family might be clothed and fed. Yea, even at a very little sum.
5. Now, Behold! thee Brethren, of all that it's meanness to thee at this time of daily hardship and distress.
6. Hasten and delay not, but rush hither while the time is still opportune and the bargain fruit still hangeth to thy plucking.
7. And again I say unto them, who are possessed of little of this world's goods, lay now into thy store house, that which will be meat and drink unto thy stomach, and raiment unto thy body, at a saving unto thee of many dollars and of many cents.
8. For the time cometh and that nigh shortly, when no man shall be able to avail himself of these things.
9. Moreover, I say unto thee, arise, gird thyself, shake from thee the dust of the farm, the office, and hie thee to the place where these savings await thee.
10. So shall thy children call thee blessed, and the satisfaction that cometh to the man that hath done well, shall be thine.
11. And thine heart shall dwell in peace and contentment and thou shalt reap the fruit of thy labors, and rest in peace.
12. Lo! The hot days cometh and here they are, and thy clothes hang heavily upon thee, But shed thee now, both thine outer and thine inner garments, and don those that shall give thee comfort and ease. Yea, though the thermometer shall rise to 120 degrees and the price thereof shall not incommode thee but shall save unto thee the greater part of thy savings.
13. Let not thy neighbors get here before thee and to despoil thee of that very thing that thou hast set thine heart upon, but rise up early in the morning and be here, where my doors are opened to do business, you, even at 9 a.m., Friday, October the Seventh.
14. And now my Brethren, I leave unto thee the paths leading unto my store and shall be here to greet thee upon thine arrival, until then

GOOD LUCK ATTEND THEE.

TEMPERAMENTAL ARITHMETIC

A young Gentle working for a Jew asked for a rise. This is the Jew's reply—

In the year there are 365 days
You work 8 hours a day, consequently you work only one-third of the time or 121 days
Then there are Sundays each year 52 days
Which leaves 69 days
Then you have one-half day off each Saturday 26 days
Which leaves 43 days
Then you have 1 hour off each day for dinner 13 days
Which leaves 30 days
Each year you get two weeks vacation 14 days
Which leaves 16 days
Throughout the year holidays 12 days
Which leaves 4 days
And any fool knows that there are Jewish holidays 4 days
Which leaves 0 days
Now why do you want a rise?

Sydney, Nova Scotia, is much exercised by the discovery that the City of Sydney is not even mentioned in the school geographies used in Nova Scotia schools, and that the manufacture of steel is not even mentioned in the list of provincial industries. One of the Nova Scotia newspapers has a long article pointing out omissions and inaccuracies in the books from which the young people are being taught about their country.

The Princess Louise, of the Canadian Pacific British Columbia coast service line, was recently launched at Victoria. She bears the distinction of being the first marine passenger vessel constructed in British Columbia. Her timbers, except for the hardwoods, were grown in the province, and her boilers and other mechanical fittings were made in British Columbia. The efforts of the builders was to make the Princess Louise an all-British Columbia product.

World" Haunting
Manitoba School

The mystery of the haunted school house near Grouse, Man., was resolved by the police of that town.
Weird lights were seen at night around the old building, which was recently sold to a Manitoban farmer and supposedly exorcised dark reports to "ghosts" and visions from the "spirit world."

When the police arrived they found the building brilliantly lighted and the "school marm's" platform occupied by a line still to "let" in length with an estimated capacity of 45,000 gallons.
July 7. Two streams of aromatic liquid were gurgling forth and there were in thousands of inches arranged about the stage. Several kegs of the highest quality it is stated, were ready for export.
Four men, also some Winnipeg and dresses, are now awaiting trial at Em-por for breaches of the Revenue Act.

Slater-Langlands

A public but poorly attended, was subsided on Tuesday evening at the Hill and Prodigyona clearance by the Rev.
Robert Magowan, when Miss Jane Slater-Langlands, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Langlands, of Blair-more, and Mr. Herbert G. L. Slater, of Calgary, were united in marriage. The bride, who wears a most tailored travelling suit of dark navy serge, with picture collar, was attended by Mrs. L. G.
Slater and Mrs. J. Williams of Sunnyside. The young couple will take up their residence in Calgary and will receive their many friends at an early date.

Carbon and Galtier mine. The body was found sitting in his auto mobile at the side of the road by his wife, who had gone to look for

H. M. Shaw, of Nanton, supposed to also represent this part of Maclean's federal constituency, paid the Pass his first visit since his election on Friday night of last week. Mr. Shaw is so well acquainted with this corner of his constituency that we question if he could without a guide again locate our town or The Pass.

Joe Knight, well-known social-that country in the most attrac-ditions which would some day be the conditions in "our own world."

The government should send Joe back there, there to remain until such time as the Russian conditions came about in Canada.

It is proposed by the Alberta

An item in our last week's issue, referring to a wheel drive held in the English church, followed by a dance, should have stated that the affair was held in the Graham hall, and not in the sacred edifice.

Inspector and Mrs. Jungel stopped in Blairmore for a few minutes on Sunday while enroute from Fernie to visit friends at Pincher Creek.

The American Consulate at Fernie is advised that Europeans who have resided in Canada for at least one year immediately preceding application for admission to the United States are not subject to the Act of Congress of June 6, 1921, entitled "An Act to Limit the Immigration of Aliens into the United States," and may be admitted though the quota of their country for that year has been exhausted. They can, however, unless British subjects, only be admitted to the United States only upon a passport, issued by the appropriate officer and vined by the American Consul. To secure his visa the applicant must appear personally before the Consul.

Beebe and Emperor Pick, and makes such an improvement that the occupants of other corners along Victoria Street are edging themselves to carry on the good work.

An Empress district man confides to his local paper a scheme of his own for altering the climate of the Alberta prairies in that neighborhood. To put it briefly, he proposes to construct a wall across the Crow's Nest Pass, or wherever it is these hot winds come through the mountains, thus shutting them off and allowing moisture-laden winds from the east and north to prevail. Another report is that the North Saskatchewan is being brought down for the same purpose.

A birthday speech is like the remains of Dennis McCann. When he was blown up by an explosion of dynamite a committee was appointed to break the news to his wife. After the spokesman had informed her of the tragedy as gently as he could, she asked if Dennis had been badly mangled. "Well, yes," said the spokesman, "his head was found in one lot, his legs in another, and his arms in a tree half a mile off." "That," said the bereaved widow, "is just like Dennis. He was always all over the place."

The Brooks Bulletin remarks that a party of engineers were surveying here and there through the district north of Red Deer, and that much publicity was given the action of the Dominion government in having reports submitted on the feasibility of irrigating that district. The story is told of one farmer who asked permission to look through the so-called "political telescope," and after peering at the horizon for some time, he was asked what he saw. "Well," replied the old man, "I think I see an election coming."

THE U.F.A. MACLEOD CONVENTION

(Contributed)

At the recent United Farmers of Alberta convention, held in Macleod, a large section of the U.F.A. delegates from the south and west of Macleod were very much disappointed at the attitude of the convention in not allowing representation from the railroad men, returned soldiers or the miners of the Crows' Nest Pass to voice their sentiments in the choice of a candidate for the coming federal election. The farmers themselves cannot possibly think of electing a man without the aid and support of the labor vote. Of course, they expressed themselves quite able to give the man of their choice a majority at the polls, and did not require labor's vote; yet it is rather unfortunate that they should feel that way, because the farmers' total vote in this riding is only 45 per cent. of the total of 15,040 votes. The miners' vote alone represents some 3200, and, taking into account the railway men around the Pass, Macleod, and east and north and west, probably 2000 votes, and also the business and professional men and the two or three thousand farmers who vote as they please, the farmers' vote is in a very weak position. I believe a Farmer-Labor candidate put in the field would get the support of the labor solid and a very large section of the farmers to the south and west of Macleod, leaving the farmers' mainstay the district north of Macleod and a short distance west from Calgary, giving a good chance for the Farmer-
Labor candidate to sweep the polls.
The returned soldiers' vote is quite able to swing the pendulum of election in any way it chooses, and the candidate that is lucky enough to get the full support of the returned soldiers and labor will undoubtedly be the man elected in the coming election; and it must be borne in mind that these votes cannot be ignored.

The attitude of the farmers is unwarranted. Labor should have been heard at the convention. The farmers' candidate, Mr. S. Coote, is thus placed in a very embarrassing position to face his campaign and ask labor's support, but the course they have chosen must now be pursued, and if Macleod riding sees a four-cornered contest, labor will have a chance of winning out, and I have no doubt in my mind whatever that there is going to be a clean and clean contest and a large vote polled.

SAFETY ON RAILWAYS

Statistics show that travelling on the railway is nowadays less hazardous than walking on the street—the percentage of fatalities steadily decreasing in spite of an increasing volume of traffic at higher speeds.

In congested areas tracks have been doubled and quadrupled; steel bridges and embankments replace wooden structures; air brakes and automatic couplers have superseded hand brakes and links and pins, steam heating and electric lighting have relegated car stoves and oil lamps to the scrap pile; steel construction throughout, underframes and car bodies, steel tyred wheels with continuous fastenings are standard for all up to date passenger equipment; air signalling devices replace the old bell cord and engine gong; scores of other accessories too numerous to mention, are now part and parcel of all modern rolling stock all specially designed to reach the desired goal—"Maximum Protection to Life and Property."

The greatest and most costly improvements have undoubtedly been carried out in connection with the permanent way and signalling systems. Steel rail of constantly increasing weight have superseded light iron ones; split switches have banished the old stub switch; elaborate interlocking devices are installed at all points where railways cross at grades, and many other improvements have been added from time to time, which are certainly too numerous to mention, although worthy of note.

Oh, Money! Money!

—BY—
ELEANOR H. PORTER

Printed by Special Arrangements with The Allen, Toronto, Ont.

A blissful sigh, very like Mellicent's own, passed Miss Flora's lips.

"Oh, I don't know," she breathed in an awestruck voice. "It don't seem yet—that it's really mine."

"Well, it isn't," declared Mrs. Jane tartly, getting to her feet. "And I, for one, am going back to work—in the kitchen, where I belong. And—Well, if here ain't Jim at last! He broke off, as her younger brother-in-law appeared in the doorway."

"You're too late, you're too late! It's all done," claimed Benny. "They've got everything all settled."

"The man in the doorway smiled. 'I knew they would have, Benny; and I haven't been needed, I'm sure your mother's here.'"

Mrs. Harriet beamed, but did not look pleased.

"But, say, Jim," breathed Miss Flora, "ain't it wonderful—ain't it perfectly wonderful?"

"It is, indeed—very wonderful," replied Mr. Jim.

A babel of eager voices arose then, but Mrs. Smith was not listening now.

He was watching Miss Flora's face, and trying to fathom its expression. A little later, when the women had gone into the kitchen, and Mr. Frank had clattered back to his work down stairs, Mr. Smith thought he had the explanation of the look that blazed in her face. Mr. Jim and Benny were standing over by the fireplace to gether.

"Pa, ain't you glad about the money?" asked Benny.

"I should be, shouldn't I, my son?" But you look—so great and you didn't say anything, hardly."

There was a moment's pause. The man, with his eyes fixed on the glowing coals in the grate, appeared not to have heard. But in a moment he said—

"Benny, if a poor old horse had been climbing a long, long hill all day with the hot sun on his back, and a load that dragged and dragged at his heels, and if he couldn't see a thing but the dust of the road that blinded and choked him, and if he just felt that he couldn't go another step, in spite of the whip that snapped, 'Get there—get there!' all day in his ears—how do you suppose that poor old horse would feel if suddenly the load, and the whip, and the hill, and the dust disappeared, and he found himself in a green pasture with cool gurgles of water under green trees in his ears—how do you suppose that poor old horse would feel?"

"Say, he'd like it great wouldn't he? But, pa, you didn't tell me yet if you liked the money."

"The man stirred, and was waking from a trance. He threw his arm around Benny's shoulders.

"Like it? Why, of course, I'm going to have time now—to get acquainted with my children!"

Across the room, Mr. Smith, with a sudden tightening of his throat, slipped softly into the hall and thence to his own room. Mr. Smith, just then, did not wish to be seen.

CHAPTER X.

What Does It Matter?

The days immediately following the receipt of those three remarkable letters by the Blairmore family, were nerve-racking for all concerned. Held by Mrs. Jane's insistence that they weren't sure yet if the money was true, the family steadfastly refused to give out any definite information. Even the eager Harriet yielded to Jane on this point, insisting that it would be mortifying, of course, if they should talk, and nothing came of it.

Their enigmatic answers to questions, and their expressive shrugs and smiles, however, were almost as effective as words.

CHOLERA INFANTUM
THE FATAL DISEASE
OF CHILDREN

Mothers should look well after their young ones during the hot summer months as this is the time of year when this summer complaint is most prevalent. It begins with a profuse diarrhoea, the stomach becomes irritated, vomiting and purging follow, the matter ejected from the stomach has a bilious appearance; the child rapidly loses flesh and is soon reduced to great languor and prostration which in a great many cases terminates fatally.

To quickly offset the vomiting purging and diarrhoea

Mrs. Charles Kretlow, Widesview, Sask., writes:—I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaint. I think it saved my little girl's life one time as she was so bad I thought she was going to die. A friend advised me about Dr. Fowler's, so I got a bottle and it helped her right away.

clinging as the rumors themselves; and the Blaisdells became at once a veritable storm center of surmises and gossip—a state of affairs not at all unpleasant to some of them. Mrs. Harriet—in particular.

Miss Maggie Duff, however, was not so well pleased. To Mr. Smith, one day, she freed her mind—and Miss Maggie so seldom freed her mind that Mr. Smith was a little surprised.

"I wish," she began, "I did wish that if Chicago lawyer in coming, he'd come, and get down with it! Certainly the present state of affairs is almost unbearable."

"It does make it all the harder for you, to have it drag along like this, doesn't it?" murmured Mr. Smith uneasily.

"For me?"

"That you are not included in the bequest, I mean."

"She gave an impatient gesture. 'I didn't mean that. I wasn't thinking of myself. Besides, as I've told you before, the earthly reason why I should have been included, it's the delay, I mean, for the Blaisdells for the whole town, for that matter. This eternal "Between you know" and "They say" is getting on my nerves!"

"Why, Miss Maggie, I didn't suppose you had any serious, bantered the man."

She threw him an expressive glance. "Haven't," she retorted. "Then again, she gave the impatient gesture."

"But even the gossip and the questioning aren't the worst. It's the family domesticity. Between Hattie's pulling one way and Jane the other, I feel like a bone between two quarrelsome puppies. Hattie is already house-hunting, on the sly, and she's bought Beside an expensive watch and a pair of gold beads. Jane, on the other hand, insists that Mr. Fulton will come back and claim the money, so she's got to be ready to go."

"The principle that she's lost a hundred thousand dollars, and so must economize in every possible way. You can imagine it."

"I don't have to—imagine it," murmured the man—

"I forgot. Of course you don't. You live there, don't you? But that isn't all. Flora, poor soul, went into a restaurant the other day and ordered roast turkey, and now she's complaining that the money wasn't enough and justify her extravagance. Mellicent, with implicit faith that the hundred thousand is not coming, wants to wear her best frocks every day. And, as if she were not already quite excited enough, young Penstock has very imaginatively begun to sit up and take notice."

"You don't mean he is trying to come back—no soon?" disbelieved Mr. Smith.

"Well, he's evidently caught the glitter of gold from afar," said Miss Maggie. "At all events, he's taking notice."

"And—Miss Mellicent?" There was a note of anxiety in Mr. Smith's voice.

"Doesn't see him, apparently. But she comes and tells me his every last move (and he's making quite a number of them just now), so I think she does see him. Little."

"The young rascal! But she doesn't care!"

"I think not—really. She's just excited now, as any young girl would be; and I'm afraid she's taking a little wicked pleasure in not seeing him."

"Humph! I can imagine it," chuckled Mr. Smith.

"But it's all this delay," chafed Miss Maggie again. "Don't you see? It's neither one thing nor another. That's why I do wish that lawyer would come, if he's coming."

"I reckon he'll be here before long," murmured Mr. Smith, with an elaborately casual air. "But—I wish you were coming in on the deal." His kindly eyes were gazing straight into her face now.

She shook her head. "I'm a Duff, not a Blaisdell—except when they want me. She hit her lip. A confused red suffused her face. "I mean, I'm not a Blaisdell at all," she faltered hastily.

"Humph! That's exactly it!" Mr. Smith was sitting energetically erect. "You're not a Blaisdell—except when they want something of you."

"Oh, please, I didn't mean to say 'I didn't say—that,' cried Miss Maggie, in very genuine distress.

"No, I know you didn't, but I did," fared the man. "Miss Maggie, it's a downright shame—the way they impose on you sometimes."

"Nonsense! I like to have them—mean, I like to do what I can for them," she corrected hastily, laughing in spite of herself.

"You like to get all tired out, I suppose."

"I get rested—afterward."

"And it doesn't matter, anyway, of course," he smiled.

"Not a bit," she smiled.

"Yes, I suspected that. Mr. Smith was still sitting erect, still peering with grim ferocity. "But let me tell you right here and now that I don't approve of that doctrine of yours."

"I tell you it's very patriotic—very! I don't approve of it at all!"

There was a moment's silence. "No!" Miss Maggie said then, demurely. "Oh, well—it doesn't matter—if you don't."

He caught the twinkle in her eyes and threw up his hands despairingly. "You are incorrigible!"

With a sudden businesslike air of determination Miss Maggie faced him. "Just what the healing vapor of Castorhazone, please, and what do you mean?" she smiled.

"I mean that things do matter, and that we merely shut our eyes to the real facts in the case when we say that they don't. War, death, sin, evil—the world is full of them, and they do matter."

"They do matter, indeed," Miss Maggie was smiling very gravely now. "It doesn't matter to war, or death, or other evil. But there are other things."

"But the other things matter, too," interrupted the man irritably. "Right here and now it matters that you don't share in the money; it matters that you slave half your time for a father who doesn't anywhere near appreciate you; it matters that you have the rest of the time for every Tom and Dick and Harry and Jane and Mollie in Hillerton that has run a silver under a thumb, either literally or metaphorically. It matters that—"

But Miss Maggie was laughing merrily. "Oh, Mr. Smith, Mr. Smith, you don't know what you are saying!"

"I do, too. It's you who don't know what you are saying!"

"But, pray, what would you have me say, she smiled."

"I'd have you say it does matter. I'd have you insist on having your rights, every time."

"And what if I had?" she retorted sharply. "My rights, indeed?"

The man fell back, so sudden and so astounding was the change that had come to the woman opposite him—she was leaning forward in her chair, her lips trembling, her eyes a smouldering fire.

"If I had insisted on my rights, all the way up?" she quivered. "Would I have come home that first time from college?"

"Would I have stepped into Mother Blaisdell's shoes, and kept the house? Would I have swept and baked and washed and ironed and laid and laid out and laid out my father and for Jim and Frank and Flora?"

"Would I have come back again and again, when my beloved books were calling, calling, always calling? Would I have seen those girls who love and marry and go to homes of their own, while I—Oh, what an I say!" she choked, covering her face with both hands, and turning her face away.

"Please, if you can, forget what I said, before, I never broke out like that—before."

"Ashamed! Well, you needn't be. Mr. Smith, on his feet, was trying to work off his agitation by sampling up and down the small room."

"But I am ashamed," moaned Miss Maggie, her face still averted. "I can't think why I should have been so—so wild. It was just something that you said about my rights, I think. You see—all my life I've just had to learn to say, 'It doesn't matter' when there were so many things I wanted to do, and couldn't. And—don't you see? I found out, after a while, that it didn't matter. I was half so much—college and my own little life wants and wishes—as that I would do—what I had to do, willingly and pleasantly at home."

"But, good heavens, how could you keep from tearing round and throwing things?"

Prince Is Early Riser

Takes Walk or Ride Before Average Youth Is Awake.

Like his grandfather, King Edward, the Prince of Wales is a moderate runner. He is said to practise cross and billiards, and is a great smoker, with a pronounced preference for a pipe. His normal day is rather more strenuous than that of most of his future subjects. Long before the average youth is awake he has walked or ridden in the park, his favorite mode is a bay of pure Arab strain, or, clad in conventional running shorts and vest, has taken a sharp run round the extensive grounds of Buckingham Palace.

By 9.30 he will frequently be in the Bath Club indulging in a stiff game of squash rackets, perhaps the most strenuous of all sports excepting fencing and boxing. The rest of the morning he generally spends with his secretaries.

Honest Advertising.

THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Honestly advertised as such, without a claim for more than its over 30 years of use have amply proven. A Baby's remedy for Babies. And not an adult's remedy for all the family and all the ails that human flesh is heir to.

Children Cry For

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this: It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

Dough Used In Watchmaking

Makes Handling of Small Screws and Rivets Easy.

Two barrels of flour, or almost four hundred pounds, are used every week in making watches at a well-known factory in New England, which turns out from two to three thousand watches a week. Since a baker uses three pounds of flour to five loaves of bread, it follows that for every watch the maker uses the equivalent of almost a third of a loaf.

The flour is made into dough, and the dough is used to handle the screws, rivets and other small parts. Each man in that part of the business has a lump of dough always at hand; and when he wants to examine a screw he jabs the piece of dough on it. Then, turning it over, he has a good chance to look at it with his watchmaker's microscope eyeglasses. Many of the screws are too minute to pick up easily with the fingers and many more, though large enough to pick up, would be so covered by the fingers or the forceps as to be almost hidden from sight.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dinney are the proud possessors of a new son and heir.

Frank Celli and family, who have spent the summer in Creston, B. C., have returned to town.

James Ford, town secretary, who has been enjoying a well-earned holiday, has returned to town.

The new tunnel from the McGillivray mine, which has been under construction for some time, is now completed.

Herb Williams, who has been for some time in Spokane, has accepted a position in H. C. McBurney's drug store.

Robert Evans has gone to Medicine Hat to meet his wife, who is returning from Wales, where she spent the summer with her parents.

Rev. D. K. Allan was in Lethbridge last Friday evening, attending the induction of the Rev. Phillips-Jones, who has accepted the pastorate of Knox church of that city.

Miss Roberta Brennan had the misfortune, while playing ball last Monday, to fall and sprain her ankle quite badly. She is improving now, but is still unable to attend school.

Mrs. James Scott, who has been ill since her return from visiting her daughter in Ontario, was taken to the hospital last Friday. Her many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Sir William Jones, of England, specialist in the carbonization of coal, was in Coleman last week. He was interested in the bi-products of the coal here, and was brought here by the C. P. R.

Mrs. Jack Johnson and little son Jimmie, who have been visiting the former's mother in Newcastle, England, returned home last Wednesday morning, looking well as a result of the holiday.

All are looking forward to October 13th, 14th and 15th, when the Chautauqua entertainers will visit our town. The tickets are selling well and an educational and entertaining treat is expected.

Last Monday evening a number of our young people took advantage of the opportunity of hearing the Bluebird orchestra, which provided music for the dance at Blairmore, and all were greatly delighted with it.

The whist drive given by the Anglicans in Mr. Graham's hall was well attended. The first prizes were won by Mrs. Thomas and Mr. W. Longbury, and the consolation prizes by Miss Margaret Pizer and Mr. S. Wilson.

The semi-final game of football between Coleman and Coal Creek took place on Saturday last at the recreation grounds. Although the weather was rather cold and windy, quite a number came out to see the game, which was very exciting. Coleman won the game quite easily, the score being 4-0 in favor of the home team.

The whist drive held in the Catholic school room last Thursday evening was greatly enjoyed. Miss Charlotte McEachern and Mr. Emmet carried off first prizes, while the consolation prizes were awarded to Mr. J. Hovan and Mrs. Thomas.

A meeting of the Crows' Nest Branch of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance was held in the Coleman public school on Saturday, October 1st. The officers were elected for the coming year as follows: President, Miss Fulton, of the Blairmore staff; vice-president, Mr. Holman, of the Hillcrest staff; 2nd vice-president, Miss Smith, of the Coleman staff; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Asselstine, of Bellevue.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

Following is Hillcrest's lineup that defeated Coleman 9-0: John Norton, Steve Belopotoky, Eddie Demie, Charles Makin, Chasty Carter, Tony Deale, Alex. Grant, Liberty Fairas, Joseph Hunter.

The Hillcrest school baseball team journeyed to Coleman last week, and after a fast day's work defeated their hosts nine to nothing. It was a fast game for both sides, but the Hillcrest team (thanks to their master, "Doc" Holman, and his strenuous efforts), proved themselves well able to defend themselves. It will be remembered that during the summer, Mr. Holman worked hard to put his school children into form, giving them the full benefit of his knowledge, hence the result. Here's to Doc Holman, and we wish him a successful team under his management next season.

Yesterday while looking over the new school, my friend and myself happened to capture a "grouse" after several vain efforts, after which we met the enterprising principal, "Doc" Holman, who decided on seeing the little one of the woods that he would give his classes a lecture on the bird. During the questioning, the children proved themselves worthy of the woods and wilds in successfully answering his questions. But there is still one question they have not answered correctly yet, and that is, "What's the reason of seeing only one of this kind perched upon a plank in the schoolhouse, and what would cause it to roam from its kind to the centre of this little town." Can any of you readers tell us?

Now that we have this town booming with a theatre, stores, dental parlors, restaurant and drug store, why not hit up somebody with a pull to try and place some concrete sidewalks along the front of the stores, so as to further improve the condition of the streets. At present they are in a pitiful state; thanks to everybody. If your correspondent had a few hundred thousands at his disposal, he would build them himself and give them as a present to the town of his adoption. Why not? Concrete is coming down!
